CPDWL/NP Webinar series
Once upon a time in a land far away...

• A serendipitous fabulation formed.
• We proposed a session on mindfulness, microaggressions, and workplace stress. That was before COVID-19.
• Mindfulness is more difficult to practice in our current situation, but it’s also more necessary.
Our goals

• To explore productive ways to deal with the shame, isolation, & anxiety that often accompany traumatic workplace experiences

• To raise awareness of the benefits associated with prioritizing wellness and particularly mental health
Workplace Stress

CPDWL/NP Webinar series
Workplace Stress Defined

“The harmful physical and emotional responses that occur when the requirements of the job do not match the capabilities, resources, or needs of the worker.” (CDC, 1999)
Contributing Factors

- The design of work tasks (conflicting job expectations)
- Work overload (excessive committee work related to “diversity”)
- Management styles (micromanagement or other ineffective forms of leadership or teamwork)
- Interpersonal relationships
- Role ambiguity
- Lack of positive feedback/ recognition
- Lack of fairness (a mismatch between the stated organizational guiding principles and actual practice)
“Disrespectful behavior that undermines the dignity and self-esteem of employees and creates unnecessary suffering, indicating a lack of concern for the well-being of other and contrary to how individuals expect to be treated.” (Zauderer, 2002, p. 38)
Hierarchy of Engagement

- I love working here & I inspire others
- What I do makes a difference
- I feel part of something bigger!
- I’m here for the money and...
- I’m only here for the...
Microaggressions
"Simply stated, microaggressions are brief, everyday exchanges that send denigrating messages to certain individuals because of their group membership"

(Sue, 2010, p. xvi)
Microaggressions exist along a continuum

(Sue et al., 2007)
Examples

Asking an Asian person to help with a math or science problem.

• All Asians are intelligent and good in math/sciences.

“There is only one race, the human race.”

• Denying the individual as a racial/cultural being

(Sue et al., 2007, p.276)
Effects

Self-doubt | Frustration | Anger | Isolation | Exhaustion

Decreased productivity | Increased turnover
Principles for Intervening

• If you’re the target...
  • Your first responsibility is to yourself. You don’t owe anyone a response
  • Acknowledge and affirm what you’re feeling. Take time to re-center.
  • What do you want to see happen? Evaluate strategies for achieving that goal or moving forward.
  • Reclaim your voice.

(Thurber & DiAngelo, 2018)
Principles for Intervening

• If you’re a witness...
  • Ask, “What’s the cost of not responding?”
  • Identify your goal/purpose
  • Focus on calling in rather than calling out the offender

• If you’re a perpetrator...
  • Face oppressive patterns
  • Be open and receptive to feedback
  • Accountability as a process
  • Seek restorative action

(Thurber & DiAngelo, 2018)
“We define microinterventions as the everyday words or deeds, whether intentional or unintentional, that communicates to targets of microaggressions

(a) validation of their experiential reality,
(b) value as a person,
(c) affirmation of their racial or group identity,
(d) support and encouragement, and
(e) reassurance that they are not alone”

(Sue et al., 2019, p. 134)
Strategic Goals of Microinterventions

- Make the invisible visible
- Disarm the microaggression
- Educate the offender
- Seek external intervention

(Sue et al., 2019)
Mindfulness
What is it?

• a state of awareness and a practice
• involves attending to the present moment and cultivating an attitude of curiosity, openness and acceptance of one’s experience
• involves presence and intentionality
• is a secular (non-religious) practice and is backed by compelling scientific evidence
Examples of Mindful Practices

• Intentional doing
  • On purpose for a purpose
  • Focusing, noticing, and giving/paying attention
    • (e.g. the act of listening and noticing types of nonverbal communication of body language, as well as the types of verbal communication; naming the incident/feeling; stating values and setting limits and boundaries)

• Meditation
  • Body scan, centering
  • Guided meditation
  • While washing hands

• Mindful inquiry
  • Description of healthy ways to communicate
9 Healthy Ways to Communicate

- Reflect back what is being said. Use their words not yours.
- Begin where they are, not where you want them to be.
- Be curious and open to what they are trying to say.
- Notice what they are saying and what they are not.
- Emotionally relate to how they are feeling. Nurture the interaction.
9 Healthy Ways to Communicate (cont’d)

Notice how you are feeling. Be honest and authentic.

Own how you are feeling (even if it is uncomfortable).

Try to understand how what’s described affects who they are and how that experience could impact this interaction with you.

Stay with the process and the interaction. The focus is not on solutions.
Benefits of mindfulness include....

• Mental and Behavioral Health - decreases in stress levels, symptoms of anxiety and depression; increases in emotional well-being and self compassion; and lowers propensity for self harm

• Social behavior – healthier responses to difficult situations; reduction of implicit bias; and increases in compassionate responses to others

• Academic – improvements in cognitive performance, self-concept and engagement
Why does it matter?

Costs of not being mindful include....

• Decreased employee engagement
• Decreased innovation
• Increased turnover
• Increased feelings of isolation and burnout
Awareness & Knowledge

Indicators

• Trouble sleeping, feeling anxious, family/relationship problems, headaches, sweats, stomach aches
• Diminished self-esteem, low morale
• Difficulty concentrating, low morale, engagement, diminished work performance.

Insight

• Questioning, Processing and Realizations...oh my!
Knowledge & Coping

Take Action

• Learn the lexicon for what is happening
• Improve emotional intelligence (communication skills)
• Know human resource policies and practices
• Be legally informed
• Document and incident reports
• Engage in self-care
Wellness & Lifelong Learning

LifeWork

- Practice mindfulness
- Seek out counseling services
- Cultivate community
