NON CIRCULATING

The National Association of State Departments of Agriculture (NASDA) is a nonprofit, nonpolitical organization comprised of the 50 State Departments of Agriculture. NASDA and USDA-NASS have a cooperative agreement for NASDA to employ enumerators in the collection of agricultural statistics. Following is a list of Alabama's NASDA enumerators (as of June 1, 1999). Without their help, the presentation of statistics in this bulletin would not be possible. The Alabama Agricultural Statistics Service gratefully acknowledges the work and integrity of its NASDA enumerators.

Driving down Alabama's many roads and highways, we see and enjoy a beautiful countryside of farms and forests. We are blessed with a great many natural resources, not the least of which is the land and people involved in our agricultural industry. Most Alabama citizens do not think about the economic contribution of agriculture as they see cattle herds, cotton fields, catfish ponds, broiler houses, and many other enterprises that make up our farming industry. The dollars generated from this activity is considerable, totaling over $4.7 billion in 1998 at the farm gate alone. Yet even with our extremely productive farms, it is tougher today for Alabama producers to make a living than it was twenty, thirty, and even forty years ago. In fact, farm prices today have reached historic lows in terms of real dollars after adjusting for inflation.

Your Department of Agriculture and Industries will strive to help farms of all sizes grow and prosper in spite of factors that we have so little control, such as foreign monetary problems and huge global supplies of many commodities. At the same time, we will keep the consumer's interest always in the forefront by working to assure a safe and quality food supply.

Alabama's cattle industry is spotlighted on the cover of this year's Alabama Agricultural Statistics bulletin. Nearly two-thirds of Alabama farms raise cattle, with cash receipts totaling $375.9 million in 1998, ranking second only to the broiler industry in farm receipts. These and other statistics contained in this publication affirm that Alabama agriculture should continue to be a vital sector in Alabama's total economic base. To maintain the family farms that make up Alabama agriculture we need strong leadership and support from all elected officials in both Alabama and Washington. We at the Department of Agriculture and Industries are committed to preserving the integrity of the family farm.

We would like to thank the many Alabama farmers and agribusinesses who voluntarily provided the information needed to produce this bulletin. Without their reports, this publication would not be possible. A special thanks also goes out to our NASDA enumerator corps who collect the needed information and to the Alabama Agricultural Statistics staff for composing the bulletin. Let us know how we can better serve you in providing Alabama or United States statistics for agriculture.

The 1998 crop-year started extremely wet which slowed land preparation and spring planting. Even so, farmers were able to get their crops in the ground just about on schedule. Cotton generally emerged to a good stand, unlike the previous year when considerable acreage was destroyed early in the season. Unfortunately, the wet conditions didn't last long. Hot, dry weather set in over much of the state soon after crops were planted, especially in the Wiregrass area. Prospects for the state's row crops rapidly diminished with corn suffering the most damage. The state corn yield was 24 bushels below the 1997 crop and 33 bushels below the state record yield set in 1994. During September, Hurricane Earl and tropical storm Hermine provided some relief to crops mainly in the southern part of the state. Yield prospects improved slightly, but the prolonged drought conditions early in the growing season kept yield potential at or below average. The first week of October, Hurricane Georges bombarded Baldwin and Mobile counties. The cotton and pecan crops were severely damaged in these and other surrounding counties. Monte Nesbitt, Auburn Horticulturist, reported that "possibly more than 90 percent of the pecans were blown on the ground, making harvest a difficult task." Soybeans in the northern part of the state suffered late season drought and heavy weed pressure. Generally, most farmers harvested their drought-reduced crops well ahead of schedule. However, acreage not harvested was higher than normal for most crops. Peach producers in Chilton and other counties across the state had a reasonably good crop, down 9 million from the previous year when 25 million pounds were harvested.

1/ Marketing year average prices are weighted prices for crops, livestock, and poultry items sold during the marketing year. They represent average prices received by farmers at the point of first sale for all grades and qualities of the commodity sold.
2/ Estimates are for market eggs only.

ALABAMA COMMODITY PRICES - A DECADE OF DECLINE
1998 Prices as a Percent of 1989 Prices

Prices received for most commodities sold by Alabama farmers during the 1998 marketing year were below a decade ago. The chart shows 1998 marketing year average prices for major commodities as a percent of prices received 10 years earlier in 1989. However, prices during the period were higher for some commodities: potatoes, oats, peaches, pecans, broilers, milk and honey.

Cash Receipts Review 1998

by

Jacqueline Moore

Farm Cash Receipts: Farm receipts for 1998 again set a record high in Alabama totaling $3.93 billion, 4 percent above 1997 farm receipts. This includes receipts for crops, livestock and poultry, government payments, farm forest products, and other farm related income such as custom work. Total farm and forestry receipts, including non-farm commercial timber, reached $4.74 billion, also a record for the State.

Broiler receipts, the largest individual commodity in Alabama's total receipts, reached a record $1.81 billion, up 9 percent from the previous year. Cattle receipts were up 4 percent totaling $375.9 million as cattle prices continued to increase. Egg receipts totaled $216.1 million in 1998, down 2 percent from the previous year. Catfish sales totaled a record $61.1 million while receipts for hogs dramatically declined 38 percent to $26.7 million. Total livestock and poultry receipts, at $2.59 billion, were 7 percent above 1997 receipts.

Alabama cotton receipts in 1998 totaled $199.8 million, a 19 percent drop from 1997. Greenhouse, sod, and nursery sales totaled $210.3 million, up 1 percent from the previous year. Peanut returns were up 10 percent to $119.8 million. Corn receipts plummeted 43 percent, while soybean receipts fell by 13 percent. Total crop receipts were $696.4 million, down 12 percent from 1997.

Cash Receipts by County: For counties with limited production of a specific commodity, cash receipts for that commodity are not published, but are included in the county's Total Farm Receipts.

Definitions: The definitions below will be helpful in interpreting the information on the following pages.

Cash Receipts: Sales of agricultural commodities at the first point of sale by establishments (farms) from which $1,000 or more of agricultural products were or would normally be sold during the year. Cash receipts include sales of commodities regardless of year produced. They exclude non-monetary transactions such as on-farm use of agricultural commodities.

Government Payments: Includes cash payments for feed grains, wheat, and cotton, amounts paid under agricultural and conservation programs, and miscellaneous payments under programs such as Rural Clean Water and Disaster. The Farm Service Agency (FSA) supplied the information.

Farm Forest Products: Stumpage revenue from sales of forest products from farms. These data and non-farm timber sales by county were provided by the Alabama Forestry Commission.

Non-farm Commercial Timber: Stumpage revenue from sales of forest products taken from other private, (non-farm) forest industry and government owned lands.

Other Farm Income: Includes machine hire and custom work, custom feeding fees, and other farm business-related income. In the county tables, these receipts are not published separately but are included in each county's Total Farm Receipts.

Value of Production: Crop value is derived by multiplying production by the season average price received by farmers. Value of production for livestock and poultry reflects inventory value. It is derived by multiplying the number of head by the average value per head. Value of production is shown in other sections of the bulletin.
